The Bank for International Settlements recently published a report called, "Blueprint for the future monetary system: improving the old, enabling the new." This report proposes that a Central Bank Digital Currency will serve as the new reserve currency. And calls for the digital confiscation of all physical property by assigning every real-world item its own unique digital token which will contain rules on how each item can and cannot be used. So that each person can be controlled and conditioned directly by the central bank.

An interesting video Gordon, we certainly don't want implants, but Gregg Reece / Infowars are subtly demonising the Germans our Saxon cousins for all the evils the tribe is putting on us!
